JOEL GOTT WINES

Oliver's is pleased to announce Joel Gott Wines as the Winery of the Month for December

Joel Gott Wines is based in the Napa Valley but produces Zinfandel, Sauvignon Blanc, Cabernet Sauvignon, and other wines from select vineyards throughout California, Oregon, and Washington. The philosophy behind the wines is to blend grapes from a wide range of sources in order to provide complex, balanced, food-friendly, and flavorful wines at affordable prices.

Growing up in a multi-generational wine family, it was natural that Joel Gott would eventually enter the local trade, but his path was anything but traditional. While in his twenties, Gott and his brother operated the Palisades Food Market in Calistoga, and later Gott's Roadside, re-imagining a local market and roadside restaurants. Joel was also involved in innovative wine projects with other partners. In 1996 Joel and his winemaker girlfriend (soon wife) Sarah made an Amador County Zinfandel that received rave reviews. Energized by success, they went on to produce California appellation Sauvignon Blanc and Cabernet Sauvignon and Joel Gott Wines were on their way!

From the start, they realized they could produce interesting wines by blending grapes from a variety of sources and appellations instead of making single vineyard wines. Rather than build a winery or purchase a vineyard, they have focused on excellent grower relations and using custom crush facilities in order to manage costs and keep their prices reasonable.

We invite you to taste and enjoy Joel Gott Wines this month at special pricing all month long!
