Sauvignon Blanc

Sauvignon Blanc is the ultimate summer wine, celebrated for its refreshing acidity and vibrant flavors. Its styles vary widely by region: New Zealand versions burst with tropical fruit, citrus, and grassy notes; Loire Valley expressions lean more toward minerality and green apple; California offers a rounder, fruit-forward profile. Some are aged in stainless steel for crisp purity, while others gain subtle complexity from oak. Regardless of style, Sauvignon Blanc's zesty, palate-cleansing character pairs beautifully with summer fare like salads, seafood, and goat cheese. Its cool, invigorating nature makes it the perfect companion for warm, sun-soaked days and alfresco dining.

Balletto Sauvignon Blanc

2025, Russian River Valley. 750 ml. Bottle.

“Dry, crisp, understated, and elegant!
Just the right amount of lime and tropical fruit to make this a classic example of what a Sauvignon Blanc should be.”

Frog's Leap Sauvignon Blanc

2024, Rutherford. 750 ml. Bottle.

“This Sauvignon Blanc is a sophisticated expression of the varietal. The grapes are grown and harvested to keep the alcohol level low and the acidity bright. The palate shows citrus and mineral, with some floral notes. Enjoy!”
